

We Defy Convention

They say that putting all your eggs in one basket lacks prudence. To them we say that their instinct is born out of a lack of confidence in their abilities. And the absence of foresight.

At IMR, we have focused all our energies on transitional outsourcing, worth US$ 5 trillion over the next decade. Where we help our clients move from legacy technologies to modern technologies. Today we are one of the preferred outsourcing partners for many Fortune 100 companies scattered across the globe. Offering near term (3-5 years) solutions for year 2000 compliance services, maintenance, migration to open systems, re-engineering and new application development.

Obviously, we know what we're doing.

For our state-of-the-art facilities at Bangalore and Mumbai, we are looking for :
